JOHN P. JONES

He Brings Suit to Gain Po A suit has been filed by John P. Jones, in which a tract of Land a Santa Monica is mvolved. J. B. Martin, R. B. James, John Doe, Richard Roe, J. Black and J. White are defendants in the suit, the last four names cited being fictitious, the real names being unknown.

Senator Jones is a citizen of Nevada, while the defendants are citizens of the State of California. On January 1st, it is State of California. On January 1st, it is alleged, that, without right or title, the defendants entered into possession of the property and ousted him out, for which act be claims $5000 damages. It is further asserted that the rental values and profits of said premises from the 1st of January, 1888, during the time he was excluded, amount to $1000. Judgment is demanded for recovery, with damages and costs of suit.

BLACK DIAMOND

Coal to Be Placed on the Market at the Old Rates. The Black Diamond coal which was to have arrived Sunday night, according to in-formation received from the California Central depot late that evening, met with some delay and did not get in as annou but General Minager Williamson Dunr states positively that it will be here this morning. The coal is consigned to the morning. The coal is consigned to the Black Diamond and Gallup Coal Company, and will be at once placed on sale in small quantities at the old rate of 75 cents per 100 pounds at the following places: Black Diamond Coal Company, foot of First street; D. Ellsworth, No. 327 Buena Vista street; D. Ellsworth, No. 327 Buena Vista street; Jacques, Main near Washington; W. Vanwig, Alameda below Second; McClure's, Aliso street near old Aliso road.

A SLICK SWINDLER.

Constable Martin Aguirre Gather A week ago a very slick and smooth-tongued individual walked into J. Lowen-thal's jewelry store on Main street and, diving down into his pocket, he brought out found it to be a substantial nugget, and a silver watch werth some $20 was given in exchange. After the visitor departed, the clerk in the store thought he would apply a more stringent test, and filed a little indentation in the piece of gold, and then applied the acid. At once a fraud was detected. A small lump of brass had been strongly plated with gold, and there seemed nothing left for the clerk to do but grin and bear the loss.

On Sunday, however, fortupe favored him, he spotted the ingenious thief in the dime show, but at the same time he himself was taken full note of. The fellow tried to keep out of his way, but the exasperated clerk kept on his trail, and finally succeeded in handing him over to the police. On being arrested, he gave the name of W. H. Bruce. He will probably be brought up today in Justice Taney's court. Constable Aguirre worked up the case against him. Bruce was placed under $500 ball.

A Cottage Burned.

About 7 o'clock last night smoke was noticed issuing from the roof of whe house belonging to Charles Parcell, Jr., on York, close to Los Angeles street. Some foolish close to Los Angeles street. Some foolish delay occurred in turning in an alarm, but on doing so the fire department soon had three engines on the spot. Unfortunately water was difficult to procure, the hydrants being so far away. Eventually 2150 yards of hose were laid from the hydrant at Washington Gardens to the burning cottage. Both Mr. and Mrs. Parcell were away from home at the time the fire occurred, and it is at present a mystery how it originated. The smoke was first noticed ascending from the roof, indicating something wrong with the flue, but as a matter of fact, no fires have been lit in the house, the necessary cooking, etc., being performed by the ald of a kerosene stove. Much of the furniture was saved, but the four-roomed, one-story cottage was totally destroyed.

Mr. Parcell was the owner of the cottage, and the property is not covered by insurance. The house was worth about $700.

A Good Time. A large and appreciative audience greeted the members of the Woman's Suf-frage Club at the Central Church Hall last frage Club at the Central Church Hall last Saturday evening. After a song by Mrs.
Sanderson, the president, Mrs. Kingsbury, made an impressive and eloquent speech.
Messrs. Hoyt, Gould and Gosper addressed the audience. Miss Lyford read extracts from a speech by Hon. G. F. Hoar of Massachusetts upon the justice and expediency of granting the ballot to woman. She afterward told her audience more of what "Josiah Allen's Wife" thought of the matter. The speeches were interspersed by fine music from Mr. Sampson's violin, and another song from Mrs. Sanderson concluded the exercises. During the recess for social intercourse leaflets were distributed and quite a number of members added to the club. Altogether, it was a very pleasant and profitable entertainment.

John Falkner walked into the police station bleeding profusely from a severe cut on the head. He said that he had been held up and robbed at the corner of Fourth and Fort streets, and Officer Gus Smith went out to investigate the case. He found that Falkner and three or four others had been together during the evening shaking dice, when he got into a row with one of the party, who struck him over the head. There was no evidence that he had been robbed. Dr. Cochrane dressed Falkner's wound, when he was sent home.

RIS CELL MATES KICK.

Anschlag was closeted most of the time yesterday in consultation with his attornous the consultation with his attornous the consultation with his attornous the consultation of the cons pearing to know what the officers were after.

Yesterday morning Anschlag was transferred from the crazy cell to the tank on the second tier, occupied by Calzade, the wife-murderer, and put on regular jail fare. He has been feeding high since he has been in jail, and did not appear relish the change. Last night, when the time came for the prisoners to be locked up, there was some commotion among them, when it was known that the murderer was to remain in one of the cells. Calzado rushed to the grating and begged Jailer Russell not to allow Anschlag to occupy the same cell with him, saying he was afraid of him, but when he found there was no escape for him, accepted the situation very philosophically, and was lying down reading by the light of a candie when the reporter left the jail, about $30 o'clock. Another fellow, locked up on a charge of burrlary, did not take kindly to Anschlag as a cell-mate, and, even after the door were locked, continued to yell for the jailer to take him out, saying he would prefer to go into the dark cell rather than spend the night in the same cell with the double murderer. There was no help for it, however, and the fellow, when last seen, was sitting on the edge of his cot, apparently afraid to go to bed, while Anschlag quettly prepared his sleeping place for the night, and seemed to rather enjoy the sensation which his presence created among the other prisoners. Yesterday the Marshal of Sants Ansfound the spades that were used by Anschlag in burying the Hitchcocks, after he had slaughtered them.

If the work was started it would be an easy matter for the others to bring in petitions and have the limits extended it they wanted it. Mr. Collins also opposed the motion, on the same grounds, but said he would like to see First street avoid through to the bridge.

Mr. Chaudler withdrew his motion, whereupon Dr. Sinsabaugh moved that the limit on Fort street extend from Temple to Sixth, which motion prevailed.

Mr. Cohn suggested that Mayor Workman and other property-owners on First street who wanted the street paved should bring in a petition to that effect, but the Mayor said he did not have the time. Property on the street was now held at $400 a foot as far out as Virgin street, and he thought there would be no objection.

Mr. Collins then moved that the limits on First street be extended to the river, which motion prevailed. A vote was then taken on the recommendations, as amended, and they were unanimously adopted.

The City Attorney was ordered to have all obstructions on Ninth street removed from Main street to the river.

The City Attorney read the Scherer contract for the paving of Main street for the information of the Council, as he understood that the Board of Public Works wished to take some action in the matter. The Cierk stated that no such contract had ever passed the Council. It had probably been taken away by the former Board of Public Works, who had failed to return it.

Mr. Barrett then moved that the contract city without first obtaining the consent of two-thirds of the property owners in said block.

Mr. Barrett said the people should be protected. One or two buildings had fallen down, and others were in danger, and the necessity of a building inspector was every day becoming more apparent.

Mr. Blennerhassett again arose to address the Council, but was called to order by the President, and left the Council chamber saying that there was a hit at him in the ordinance.

saying that there was a hit at him in the ordinance.

Mr. Teed moved to reconsider, but Mr. Chandler objected, saying that as the matter had been declared lost it could not be reconsidered at this meeting. After a rather lengthy discussion, Mr. Sinsabaugh moved that the rules be suspended and the ordinance providing for a building inspector be adopted.

The question of salary was then considered, and Mr. Barrett moved that the salary of building inspector be made $200 per month.

Mr. Bosbyshell thought there were too many officers, and he thought the Council should call a halt. should call a halt.

Mr. Sinsabaugh advocated the appointment of a building inspector, but thought a fund should be provided by charging $5 for each permit issued.

Mr. Daly said this action was unconstitutional.

Mr. Barrett explained that in other cities the charge was from $2 to $10 for each building permit issued.

A motion was then made to suspend the rules, but unanimous consent not being obtained the ordinance was ordered printed,

The Clerk read the draft of an ordinance changing and extending the fire limits of District No. 1 [recommended by the Fire Commissioners and heretofore published in The Times], and a motion was made to suspend the rules and pass the ordinance. Unanimous consent not being obtained, the motion was lost, and the ordinance was ordered printed and went over.

The Clerk read the recommendation of the Fire Commissioners that the Council appoint a committee to look up the contract with the Citizens' Water Company and see if some relief could not be obtained for the city.

if some relief could not be obtained for the city.

Mayor Workman made a statement, after which Mr. Collins moved that the whole matter be referred to the Fire Commissioners for investigation.

Mr. Cohn moved to amend by referring the question to the City Attorney, to ascertain whether the ordinance was binding on the city. He said no Counzil, nor any one else, had a right to part with the water rights of the city, which was a sacred trust.

Mr. Sinsabaugh explained how the ordinance had passed. He said the people on the hills were clamorous for water, and the man who could furnish the water was what was wanted.

The City Attorney was then added to the committee, and the motion prevailed.

The report of the Zanja Committee was read, and the various recommendations adopted.

The report of the Sewer Committee was read, and the recommendation adopted, after being amended, so as to have the city contract for the sewers complete, the contractor to buy the pipe of the city.

Burlingame's contract for excavating the sewer on College street was read, offering to do the work at 60 cents a lineal foot, and, on motion of Mr. Cohn, after debate, the motion prevalled by a unanimous vote.

The Clerk read a recommendation from William F. Griggs, for the Richmond firalarm system, stating that in view of the opposition to the fire-alarm system, he withdrew his proposition to make certain changes in the existing system and, having important business to bring before the Council, asked that a special committee be appointed to consider the question at issue. Communication received and filed and the matter referred to the Fire Commissioners and Mr. Cohn.

A communication was received from a fire engine manufacturer, asking to have the opening of bids for fire engines post-poned for one week, and after some debate it was, on motion, decided to open the bids, as follows: W. C. Furrey, for the Ahrens Engine Company, and also from the La France Fire Engine Company, and also from the La France Fire Engine Company, and also from the La France Fire Engine Company.

Mr. Cellins moved that the Stearns electric light franchise be taken from the table and referred to the Board of Public Works, and the metion prevailed.

Messrs. Lovell and Sinsabaugh thought Mr. Stearns had not been treated fairly, and he hoped that when he appeared again before the Council they would kear him, and decide the question on its merits.

Mr. Cohn said he had investigated the question of the electric lighting, and from the best information he could obtain found they had been receiving only 1200 to 1400 candle power per light, when they should be getting 2000. He had also learned that a machine could be purchased f tee. The action of the board in abolishing the office of superintendent of street-sprink-ling was ratified. The bids for the erection of the City Hospital were certified to the Council, and, after debate, the Board of Health was instructed to go ahead with the contract, bring it in at the next meeting, and it would be approved.

The Tolles arose. They were wretchedly laid aside to meet the extent coming of a longed-for look and cow chips, which hardly gave sufficient heat to warm the stove; then a sharp, the first of the routing which the north wheely, warned them to prewinter drew nigh. arose, aressed themselves, and opened the door to look out. To the extreme vision the plains were white. All the ravines were drifted full of snow. Every familiar landmark had disappeared. The cattle shed in the ravine was almost covered with tightly-packed ice and snow. After eating a scantv breakfast of cornmeal and bacon, the Tolles dug a path to their cattle and watered and fed them. Then they carried straw to their house and rolled and twisted it into bundles to burn in their stove, but it afforded little heat, and the house was very cold. The next day the wind blew from the south, and it seemed to be colder than the north wind had been. The day after the snow began to melt, and in two days it had disappeared, except in the ravines and draws. The young people realized that they could not live through another blizzard without a supply of coal. But it was 30 miles to the railroad station, and John hesitated to drive that long dustance on the mere chance of getting. distance on the mere chance of getting fuel. On the afternoon of the fourth fuel. On the afternoon of the fourth day after the blizzard a neighbor rode by their house, and as he passed he shouted to them that there was coal at the town. The young man determined to go to town the following day. The next morning was a delightful December day on the plains. There was not a particle of wind. The grass, coated with hoar frost, glistened in the sunlight as though millions of tiny electric lights glowed on the prairie. The horses were fed and hitched to the wagon. The young husband came to the house to get more and some food the house to get money and some food to eat while on the journey. Mary counted the sacred hoard. It amounted to $11. The day continued warm. But the young wife was lonely. She was oppressed by the solitude of the plains. Her house seemed to be abandoned. She called her dog and walked over the desolate plains. She gathered cow chips in her apron. She fed and watered the stock. She attempted to kill time, and the day seemed to be ighted a lamp and sewed on small garments. She smiled as she worked. Apparently her thoughts were pleasant. Without a particle of warning the wind rushed out of the north and struck the house with terrific violence. The air became cold almost instantly. But there was no driving snow. The poor young girl listened to the howling of the wind for an instant, then she bowed her head on the table and cried bitterly, to be aroused from her nervous grief by a blood-cardling chours. to bowed her head on the table and cried bitterly, to be aroused from her nervous grief by a blood-curdling chorus outside the house, as though 10.000 devils were exulting there. The dog's hair stood upright on his back, and he growled savagely. Light footfalls pattered around the house. Then the devilish chorus again sounded. Mary sat with blanched face and faintly throbbing heart, looking through fare-expanded eyes at the door, where she fancied she heard inquiring sniffs. Her dog became wildly excited and barked furiously. Mary was so greatly terrified that she no longer felt the cold. She went to bed to hide. She covered her head with a blanket, as a timid child does, and lay awake for hours listening to the coyotes' frightful chorus, and, listening, she fell into a dreamful, troubled sleep.

It was morning, and a few flakes of fine snow thot through the air. Mary arose and fed the cattle. She wondered at the intensity of the cold. She built a fire in the stove and boiled a little cornmeal for her breakfast, a portion of which she gave to the dog. It grew colder and colder. The snow-flakes were becoming more numerous, and appeared to be smaller than they were when she arose, and the wind gathered strength as it blew. Mary glanced at French cooking, will satisfy your highportion of which she gave to the dog. It grew colder and colder. The snow-flakes were becoming more numerous, and appeared to be smaller than they were when she arose, and the wind gathered strength as it blew. Mary glanced at the clock. Its hands marked 9. "John is at the top of the second divide by this time," she said. Ten o'clock! The snow was falling freely and almost horizontally. The mercury marked far below zero. The noise of the storm was terrific. She became anxious about John. But there were neighbor's houses at intervals on the road, and he would surely find shelter in one of them. And maybe he had not 'left town. She became nervous. She could not eat. She thought of her Ohio home. Visions of great piles of firewood and bins full 'of coal arose before her. She conjured up the stove with extended hands as the hard wood burned.

Darkness fell on the plains. She lighted her lamp, and beld her half-frozen hands above the glass chimuey to warm them. She got her sewing and tried to sew. Her fingers were too stiff to handle the fine needle she worked with and the small white garworked with, and the small white gar worked with, and the small white gar-ments which she was making slipped from her lap and fell to the floor. By midnight the storm had passed and the bright stars shone on a snow-covered earth. The wind fell. Mary continued to feed the stove with bits of hard-wood furniture until the room be-came sufficiently warm for her to go to continued to reed the stove with olds of hard-wood furniture until the room became sufficiently warm for her to go to bed. The mattress lay on the unchopped floor close by the stove. She lay down and covered herself with the thin blankets. She could not sleep. She pictured her husband lost in the blizzard—how glad she was that she had given him the blanket. Then she saw him sleeping comfortably in a neighbor's house, and the wagon partially filled with lumps of coal stood outside—how good it looked. She argued with herself and tried to be cheerful, but there was a strange, unwonted pressure on her heart which would not be reasoned away. At intervals she slept fitfully and visions rolled through her brain. She was up early, just as the whitish-gray light began to disappear. She was strangely weak and nervous, and she marveled at her condition. While she was trying to build a fire she heard the crunching of indition. While she was trying to build a fire she heard the crunching of intensely cold snow as wagon wheels rolled over it. She arose and walked to the door, saying:

"Thank God, he has come at last!"

Thank God, he has come at last!

She opened the door and saw the team of horses, with low-hanging heads, wearily approaching the house.

No driver sat on the wagon seat.

"John is walking behind the wagen to keep warm," she said as she pressed her hands to her bosom to quiet her throbbing heart. throbbing heart.

The tired, storm-beaten horses slowly approached the house. She saw that the lines were tied around the dash-board. John was not walking behind. "The horses have run away and left him." she whispered with white lips. "That is it. He will come presently." The horses halted in front of the door. She grasped the door post with her hands to keep from falling, and gazed wildly through terrified eyes far beyond the wagon over the frozen plains. She shrank from looking into the wagon. Her white face became deeply lined. Her heart was compressed as with slowly-shrinking bands of

"John," she said, hesitatingly and reluctantly, "John, if you will sleep in the livery stable in town it will save some money. You can take one of the blankets; I will not need all of them, as the weather is so warm and pleasant, and you will be back tomorrow, you know."

"Of course, I am going to sleep in the stable," John said pleasantly; "but I guess I can find bed-clothing there. I am afraid to take any from you."

He looked at the sky attentively for a few minutes. It was clear to his eyes. He did not notice the faint gray mist hanging just above the plain away off to the north. Again he looked at the sky and saw no sign.

"I do not believe it will storm," he said, "and if it is chilly tonight you can cover up with our clothes."

He took the blanket from her outstretched arms and tossed it in the wagon. He leaned over her, and as her arms twined around his neck he drew her close to him and kissed her slovingly and whispered, "I'll be back him repeatedy. He laughed nervously and very near to tears as he gently loosened her leaned over her, and sher arms, saying lowly: "I must go, Mary, or the coal will be gone before I get there." He clambered into his wagon and drove off.

need no missionaries or lecturers to teach them cooking. Meats, fruits, vegetables, in their kitchens, are married to fire, without losing the char-acteristics of their birth and growth in ripe age. Mrs. Blank, who cooks the meats for her family of four strong sons and two healthy daughters, cantaste has been vitiated by so-called French cooking, will satisfy your highest gastronomic desires. America surpasses all parts of the world in the abundance and excellence of its meats, fish, game, vegetables and fruits, and I defy mention of any country in the world where the native population, from house to house, have as good cooking.

The prettiest model in Paris today is Alice Van—, daughter of a Belgian violinist, who died when she was about 14 and left her to make her own living and that of her family. She posed for Henner's "Fabiola"—reproduced in this country as a tobacconist's advertisement—"Orpheline" and "Heriodade." Another model in vogue at present is a Viennese girl named Hedwige, who has blonde hair with golden reflections, and a form like an antique statue, Honorine P— is a pretty girl of 17, much in demand among painters

The Council and the City.

The Mayor is doing well, in keepin the needs of the city before the Council and we trust that body will give him their full support in carrying out his recommendations. His messages yesterday urging expedition of work on street paving; the immediate removal of mud from the streets and the empelling of street railroads to make the grade of their lines conform with that of the streets are all directly to the point and we are glad to see that the Council acted promptly on the lastnamed matter, giving the companies th alternative of carrying out their agree-This has the right ring. The decision to pave First street from Fort to th river is also good and cannot be carried out too soon. The condition of that street at present would be a disgrace to the pen of a respectable hog-slaughtering establishment, and is a constant menace to life and limb.

Another good piece of work done by the Council was the creation of the office of Building Inspector. A stop will now perhaps be put to the erection of disreputable-looking shanties and shaky buildings on our main streets. Another thing that should be attended to is the regulation of the lines of new streets. At present every one seems to lay out streets to suit their own ideas of convenience or profit, without any regard to the neighboring thoroughfares or the general plan of the city. As a consequence, one can hardly go half a dozen blocks on any new street without coming to a jog in the lines where two tracts meet. Such the a state of affairs should not be permitted for a moment in any city that expects to become a metropolis. It is very easy to regulate these matters now, but after improvements have een made changes will be expensive and often impracticable. Our City Fathers have a great re sponsibility upon their shoulders, which we trust they fully appreciate. They stand at the helm of municipal affairs at a critical period in the history of our fair city. Los Angeles has thrown off the village habit which she wore for a century, and is rapidly assuming the garb of a great city. Upon the wisdom and public spirit of the pres-ent City Council depend to a great perity of Los Angeles in the immedi ate future. We hope for the best and trust we shall not be disappointed.

WASHINGTON real-estate men are not far behind their western brethren in shrewdness. They have made very free use of President Cleveland as a advertisement of the suburban section Col. Ludlow, Engineer Commissioner of the District, has been aiding the plans of various syndicates by pushing without regard to the small holders in the way. These syndicates have unted on the interest the President might be disposed to have in his own nvestment not to interfere, but their plans have been completely upset by the removal of Maj. Ludlow. It seems that the raid on the job kept up in the Marshal of Massachu- and ran the Administration so close that the engineer had to go. Quite a panic has resulted among suburban real-estate speculators. It is expected that Congress will declare unofficial, and therefore illegal, the maps upon which these syndicates have been sell ing Washington property in Philadel phia, New York and other cities.

By storage reservoirs and artesian wells room could be made for an additional population of many millions.

AMUSEMENTS

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.-A fair hou reeted The Double Uncle Tom's Cabin last night, though why and how "double" was undiscoverable, "Uncle Tom" not appearing as a colored twin to the ordinary eye. The dogs, always the heroes of the evening, were big and brindled, and wor ried their respective darkies with lusty vigor; the ice upon which "Eliza" cross vigor; the ice upon which "Ellea" crosses "wobbled" realistically, and the buxon young woman who takes the part of "Eliza" is an excellent screamer. The scene of "Eva's" death is always pathetically pretty, and touches the zeneral heart, and the little "Eva" of this company, Edith Root, is wonderfully graceful, has a sweet, unstrained voice, and is as good as so maudlin a part can be made. Miss Blanche Slader is the "Topsy," and is well versed in the customary antics of that somewhat colored young miss.

The performance, as a whole, is far better than the average, the darkey singers and dancers, especially, one of whom has most magnificent bass voice.

SAN FBANCISCO, Jan. 30. — [Special.

Ex-Surveyor-General Gardner has addressed a long letter to Gov. Waterman from Oak land in which he calls attention to the claims of Capt. John Mullan as State Agent and attorney at Washington, D. C., to large sums of money from the State Treasury for alleged services rendered the State in connection with the direct tax and 5 per cent. claims. He recites the fac' that by act of Congress imposing a direct tax, eac State and Territory was empowered to col-lect and pay into the United States Treasury its own quota of, the same in lieu of compensation allowed United States assessors and collectors. Fifteen per cent. was allowed to be deducted on this quota, which, in the case of California, whose direct tax was $254,538.67, would amount to $38,180.80. In accordance with the action of several States in appointing special agents at Washington to recover from the National Government the sums paid under the act of 1861, and on the personal appeal of Mullan, who represented nothing would ever accrue to the State of California from this claim except through his (Mullan's) persona efforts at Washington, Gov. Perkins was in duced to appoint him special agent for the collection of said claim, leaving to legislation the question of recompense for his services. By a resolution of the Legislation, adopted March 3, 1883, this compensa-tion was fixed at 20 per cent. of each of the sums or claims that may be by him collected from the United States, and to pay to him such per cent. out of moneys that may be collected by him and paid to this State on account of not only the direct tax, but of the claim of the State for 5 per cent, of the net prsceeds of the sale of her public lands. The ex-surveyor calls attention to the fact that the recerds of the Executive Department of California do not show that Mullan was ever appointed by either Govs. Irwin, Perkins or Stonema as agent for the State in the collection of the 5 per cent. claim, and that the resolu-tion of the Legislature empowering him to act as such covers a deep scheme and is an ingenious contrivance, adroitly worded and cunningly devised, and never could have been intended by the Legislature had the same period, $9,165,288, and in 10 and period $9,165,288, and $ full purport of the resolution been under stood, and it will not stand the test of judicial investigation. In conclusion, Gen. cial investigation. In conclusion, Gen. Gardner says: "Should the direct tax and per cent, claim bills become laws, the result vill be the returning of $1,216,489 to the State treasury, and in pursuance of his claim Mullan would ask that 20 per cent., or $251,021.27, be paid him for his alleged 5 per cent appropriation would be an indi-rect violation of section 4, article 9, of the State Constitution." He further says: "We are not aware of any extraordinary We are not aware of any extraordinary talents or eminent public services heretofore rendered by him, whereby Capt, John Mullan is able to manage the Congress of the United States to the exclusion of our Senators and Representatives. As Senator Stanford has heretofore remarked, 'the necessary for the passage of any of these bills,' and asks that Mullan's appointment, uch as it is, be revoked." FORESTS.

It ence to rates on fruit shipments east. It was represented that a through rate of $*i00 per car will be charged from San Francisco to New York, and also that smaller trains than those last season will be taken at the same rates. Mr. Towne said the rates last year were as low as fruit could be handled, and tariff sheets of eastern roads were quoted to show that rates were as low as any road granted. He promised, however, to refer the matter to the officials of Southern Pacific connections east and obtain the best efforts of the company for the State. The committee then withdrey to await his action.

THE SANTA FE'S HOUSE.

Its Connection with the San Fran cisco and San Joaquin Valley. San Francisco, Jan. 30.—[By the Asso-ciated Press.] In discussing the subjec-tor the mission of T. R. Wilbur of the San Congress, showing wherein the Stanford Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Railroad to the East, a railroad man, who is in a position to know the facts of the matter, said today that the trip was made for the purpose of placing the bonds of the company. For this transaction negotiations had previously been made, and there is no doubt that the bonds will all be placed. There is no longer any question of the Atchison's connection with this line. It is generally recognized by the officials of the Southern Pacific Company and others. It is learned that the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley road will not build its main line to Fresno, simply running a branch easterly into that town, and continuing the main road on down the valley. It all lies with the Southern Pacific Company whether the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley line shall be built on the east or west side of the valley in going south from White's bridge, to which place the grading has been completed. If the Southern Pacific continues to build down the west side of the valley it will compel the other road to go over to the east side and enter the territory of the present Southern Pacific main line. doubt that the bonds will all be

NEW YORK, Jan 30.—[By the As Press.] A Disastrous fire broke out early this morning at 519 Broadway, and destroyed six buildings, in which there were about 20 stores. The flames spread with astonishing rapidity. The fire insurance adjusters estimate the loss at $2,500,000. The walls of two of the buildings fell about 6 o'clock, and the ruins covered Broadway, stopping travel for several blocks. Fire insuran adjusters now say the loss will reach $1,500,000. The following firms were burned out: now say the loss

Henry Rogers & Co., fancy trimmings; T. A. Yost, summer clothing; Malcolmson & Co., boys' clothing; Robertson & Caufman, trimmings; P. K. A strong wind has been prevailing for the past week, and all along the line, from Donald to Glacier, snow has been coming down the track in tremendous quantities. Near Pallesere station, B. C., several men were caught in the slide. Only one was dug out alive. He is badly bruised and injured, and not expected to recover. The mild weather has effectually stopped through Canadian Pacific trains, and as the mountain streams are considerably swollen, it may be some time before traffic is resumed. The latest reports from the mountains indicate there has been great loss or life on the Canadian Pacific, owing to snow slides. Passengers coming in on trains from Calgarry bring meagre particulars of the disaster.

Disease in Pillows and Bolsters.

[London Daily News.]

A correspondent of a medical journal bids us take note of the fact that disease and death lurk in the very pillows and boisters on which we lay our heads at night. It is easy to talk of down and feathers, but as a fact, if they were put onen these articles would neads at night. It is easy to talk of down and feathers, but as a fact, if they were cut open these articles would be often found to be more or less stuffed with the most heterogeneous materials. Pillows, bolsters and beds have been texamined and found to contain portions of filthy, coarse black serge, apparently parts of soldiers' coat-sleeves, pieces of dirty, greasy silk dress, old worsted braid from the borders of women's gowns, soiled linen rags and colored catico, and even nuts and walnut shells and pieces of crinoline wire. The bedding in this case was bought new, we are assured, a few years ago of an extensive and respectable upholsterer. Moreover, a woman who was employed to do the unpicking work for the trade informed the lady of the household that the practice of stuffing bedding with dirty rubbish and rags was very general, and that few beds or bolsters contain only the materials of which they are supposed to consist.

was very general, and that few beds or bolsters contain only the materials of which they are supposed to consist.

Cranky Comstock.

Anthony Comstock was soundly a mubbed by the Philadelphia authorities in his recent attempt to suppress the sale of French engravings and etchings. The Quaker City authorities in his recent attempt to suppress the sale of French engravings and etchings. The Quaker City authorities in his common sense when he tried to have condemned what all lovers of art regard as good pictures. The trouble with Comstock is that he has fought so long against indeent literature and obscene pictures that he has become a monomania on the subject. Everything nude he regards as immoral, a proposition on which he will find very few to agree with him.

Now, to anybody who did not know the subject of our conversation, such a remark as that just made would have been startling. Public Improvements Under Way-Land Values Not Declining-The Building Boom - Money in the Banks-A Bright Future.

Following is a portion of a letter written to the Sonoma Democrat by Melville Dozier of the State Normal

Melville Dozier of the State Normal School, Los Angeles:

This fair city being the head and center of the astonishing growth that has marked the southern counties of late, has been made the target of the most inexcusable misrepresentation, and your own fair journal, recognized for its justice, candor and patriotism, has not escape i the fault, inconsciously no doubt, of publishing statements emanating from those unqualified to speak, which do great injustice to Los Angeles. Several times recently your paper has contained interviews with real estate men who have gone from here to Santa Rosa (the fairest gem in Northern California), representing that the bottom was about to fall out, and the worst financial crash known to modern times was imminent. In keeping with this, last week's issue, now before me, contains a statement by your estimable citizen, Dr. Savage, greatly disparaging a whole section and its metropolis in which, by his own confession, he spent but a few days, and that, too, in the midst of the hardest rain and most inclement weather known to this section in many years. It seems immod-

Treated for months ago.

The recent adoption of a complete system of sewerage for the entire city, involving, in the aggregate, an outlay of more than a million dollars, together of more than a million dollars, together with the piping necessary for hundreds of new buildings, the extension of gas and water mains, the building of new street railways, and the double-tracking of old ones, combine to cause an immense amount of tearing up in the streets, accompanied by no little inconvenience at times. But the liberality and enterprise at the back of this work sees the end from the beginning, and can well afford to endure with patience an inconvenience to be followed by such great comfort and profit. I must ask your indulgence for one thought more, Mr. Editor, and that is with reference to the so-called boom in real estate. It prise at the back of this work sees the end from the beginning, and can well afford to endure with patience an inconvenience to be followed by such great comfort and profit. I must ask your indulgence for one thought more. Mr. Editor, and that is with reference to the so-called boom in real estate. It is unquestionably true that prices in land have not made for some months the marvelous advances realized last summer, and it is well that they have not. The prices reached were, in many cases, too high, but, as far as I know, there has been but little, if any retrogression, and holders are not at all alarmed at the prospects of the future. There is no real and permanent advantage in boeming land beyond its intrinsic value, and the cessation of such such as from the beginning, and ender on the is promptly reported to the company some "foot, tender" or otherwise, who is ready to swear there were not many people on the car. Let us cultivate a little more patience and a higher regard for the feelings of that mule.

payments January 1st.
Third—That the railroads are taxed

Third—That the railroads are taxed to their utmost to accommodate the travel and traffic to this city, notwithstanding the most thorough equipment and the most active rivalry.

Fourth—That new railroads are being constructed in all directions, mainly radiating from Los Angeles, but contemplating the early completion of a perfect network of roads, connecting many points with each other necting many points with each other. and with the ocean, and developing thousands of acres of the most fertile land. Where railroads lead, prosperity is bound to fellow.

Cin the face of all these facts, think you that 'Use Areales' is a Des.

you that "Los Angeles," as Dr. Savage says, "will soon live not among the things of the present, but among the memories of the past?" The thought is preposterous. A brighter future never awaited any city on the American continent. Nor will be not there exists a continent. is preposterous. A brighter future never awaited any city on the American continent. Nor will its northern sisters be always loth to grant to it the due mead of praise. It has done more to advertise California than all the rest of California combined; why should it not enjoy the legitimate fruits of its enterprise? But let me add, Mr. Editor, that the sun shines upon no spot on earth more favored than old Sonoma, and when her citizens awake to the necessity of judiciously and systematically presenting to the world ber claims of preference, such a tide of immigration will set that way as will astonish the natives; and that, too, without detriment to Los Angeles or any other place of real merit. The isaducements that California holds out to eastern people are not only permanent, but they annot be duplicated on the continent, if on the earth. The conditions that drive people from the Eastern States are also permanent and of increasing efficacy. Why, then, should California not become as densely populated as New York or Pennsylvania? It will as sure as the sun shines; and that, too, at no very distant day. Then let us cease this bitter and unand that, too, at no very distant day.

Then let us cease this bitter and unreasonable jealousy, and join hands in the great work of common promotion University Place. UNIVERSITY PLACE, Jan. 30.-[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Miss Grace Scrafford gave an elocutionary entertainment at the university chapel last Friday evening for the benefit of the Athena Society.

Dr. T. C. Warner has begun a series

the Athena Society.

Dr. T. C. Warner has begun a series of Sunday evening lectures to young men which promise to be a rich treat to all who may be able to attend them. Dr. Abel Stevens, the great Methodist historian, author and editor, will preach next Sabbath morning at University Church.

A grocery store will be opened soon at Park Station by J. J. Weir.

Mrs. Wilczx, whose illness was noted a few weeks ago, died last Wednesday morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. E. Luke, on Haven street.

University Place has had for the past few months, and is now having, quite a building boom. The following is a partial list of the buildings now in course of crection: Dr. Charles Pratt, a fine residence on southwest corner of Wisconsin and Santa Monica avenue; T. W. Tolchard, two-story residence on Vermont avenue; J. N. Harmon, cottage on Ames street; Mr. Hoxhurst, cottage on Janes street; Dr. J. A. Daugherty, cottage on Wesley avenue; Rev. S. A. Williams, cottage on Hellman street; W. A. Frazier, cottage on Hellman street; W. A. Frazier, cottage on Hellman street; C. G. Compton, cottage on Florida street; Mr. Amick, dwelling on Florida street; Mr. Amick, dwelling on Florida street; Mr. Bennett, business block on Jefferson street; William Wilson, two double bouses on Simpson street.

The Southern Pacific Railroad Company contemplates building a new passenger depot at Park Station in the near future. A part of the material is now on the ground.

How They Stood a Drunken Man

William Joseph and James Williams figured in Judge Cheney's court yesterday on the charge of stealing from the person.
The defendants had been playing cards in a saloon on the 19th of November last, when J. A. Heisier, the aggrieved party, Joined In the game. On its conclusion Heisier treated his new friends, and they got the idea into their heads that he had a considerable amount of money. At 4:30 the next morning a deputy constable who lives at 32 Howard street was aroused from steep and heard some one say: "Don't abuse me asy more and you may have all the money I'vergot." He jumped out of bed and went cutside, and in the dun light saw two men assaulting the third, who was on the ground. While the one held the victim down the other was engaged in rifling his pockets. The constable threw one of the assailants to one side and, not watting to show fight, he ran off. Getting hold of the second scoundrel he held him and eventually lapaded him in the police station. Heisler, who was slightly intoxicated at the time, said he was robbed of $50, but as his head was cut severely he hastened to have that attended to. The assailant, Joseph, who had taken to his beels, was not captured until the following day.

Judge Cheney has on several occasions spoken of his intention to severely punish crimes of this kind, and it is expected that on February 3d, when they come before him for sentence, that they will pay very dearly for relieving Helsler of his $50.

BRONCHITAS, ASTHMA, CONSUMPTION. Together with diseases of Successfully treated by M. Hilton Williams, M.D., M.C.P.S.O. No. 275 North Main street, ors south of the postoffice, Los Ar geles, California.

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by the most improved medicated inhalations, combined with proper constitutional reme-lies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc. CATARRH.

CATARBH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as cold in the bead, and he often expresses his stonishment at his remarkable tendency to ontract a fresh cold. Indeed, he declares he searcely free from one cold before he takes nother; and he is always exceedingly careui; it is also a matter of surprise to him that he cold always seems to settle in the head nd throat. ful: it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led; to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appear, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character, and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing; hoarsoness at times occurs; a sensation of dryness at times occurs; a sensation of dryness a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath elseens upon a little exertion, a short, hocking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breath; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made censiderable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, as the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will 'wear off,' declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed in the consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

The very best references from those already cured.

Dr. I. Rader, of Fulton. Kan., says: 1 have been practicing medicine for 37 years. Many times I have prescribed Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and do not believe it has an equal in the market." It is a certain cure for coughs, colds and hoarseness. It is a splendid expectorant. It contains no opium, chloroform or any injurous substance. 50 cents per bottle. Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 North Spring street.

A conflict for possession. When your system becomes disordered do not let slokness or disease take possession. Take St. Patrick's Pills at once. They act promptly, cure costiveness and bilious disorders. They ward off diseases and tone up the whole system. C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 North Spring street. Any person who is affected with tetter, salt rheum or any itching or smarting skin discusse, had better try Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. They will certainly never regret it. It is sucaranteed to give satisfaction. Said by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 Nort Spring street.
